< Benesse Group Corporate Philosophy >

bene (well) + esse (being) Benesse = well-being

What is “Benesse”?

The heart of “Benesse” is enjoying the process of moving forward step by step, with resolve, toward the realization of your dreams and aspirations.

Benesse empowers people to solve issues for themselves and to enjoy life to the full at every stage by offering them the tools and support they need to create well-being. We aim to be a globally respected corporate group that is supported by and indispensable to customers, communities, and society. We will contribute positively to society now and in the future.

*Benesse is a word coined from the Latin words “bene”(well) and “esse”(being).

< The Purpose of the Benesse Group >

Anybody can enjoy lifelong growth.
Toward a world in which everyone can live their own life.
Benesse will continue to aim for these ideals.

We want Benesse to always be a company that boldly tackles society’s problems and helps its customers to live well.

Hitoshi Kobayashi

Founded in 1955 as Fukutake Publishing, the Benesse Group today provides services for people at each life stage in areas that include education in Japan and globally, nursing care and childcare, and lifestyles. The foundation for all of these business activities is the corporate philosophy of “Benesse,” or “well-being,” that we announced in 1990.

We stand alongside our customers throughout their lives as they progress toward the realization of their dreams and aspirations and help them to achieve growth and overcome problems. This commitment is embodied in our unchanging corporate philosophy, as expressed in the name “Benesse.” We have remained faithful to this philosophy throughout our history. Benesse employees share this philosophy as they work with high aspirations to provide products and services that help a wide variety of people to enrich their experience of each stage of life in their own way.

Our business environment is continually affected by major social changes, such as falling birthrates and technological progress. To realize our unchanging “Benesse” philosophy and create value that benefits our customers, every individual employee needs to reaffirm our fundamental purpose and continue to take up the challenge of responding to changes in our customers and society. We believe in the potential of people at every life stage. That is why we are working tenaciously to build a world in which all kinds of people can progress through the turning points in their lives and enjoy richer lives in their own ways in a changing social environment. The Benesse purpose embodies these aspirations.

In line with this purpose, which represents the core management philosophy for the Benesse Group, we will contribute to the solution of social issues that affect all people, while responding to changes in our customers’ needs and helping them to overcome challenges. We will enhance children’s motivation and confidence toward learning and help them to build skills that will benefit them in the future. We will help university students and working adults to learn skills that will advance their careers and enable them to work energetically in fields that reflect their aspirations and aptitudes. In addition, we will respond to rapid demographic aging by expanding our efforts to address a shortage of care workers and promoting digital transformation in the care sector. While accelerating these initiatives, we will also place even greater importance on our social value and customer value as the basis for further enhancement of our economic value through initiatives centered on our purpose.

Benesse’s purpose (reason for existence) is defined by the intersection between our accumulated strengths and needs of society. As a company that seriously addresses social issues through business and provides total support to its customers, we are determined to achieve further growth by working toward the realization of a future society in which people can enjoy well-being (Benesse).

We help people to live well through our business activities

The Benesse goal — to help people live well.
We provide a broad range of services in five business segments relating to education, nursing care, childcare, and lifestyles.

Benesse services — support for every life stage

We work alongside individuals and help them to progress toward the achievement of their dreams and ideals while providing lifelong support through our diverse lineup of products and services.

Pregnancy, childbirth, and child-rearing

Benesse provides support during pregnancy, childbirth, and child-rearing by sharing information and knowledge and offering advice through our magazines, books, apps, websites, mail order sales, and other services under the Tamahiyo brand. We also help people to enjoy fulfilling lifestyles that reflect their personal aspirations by using various media to share information about home life and pets, and by supporting community development.

Infants

We offer unique educational services, such as the Kodomo Challenge correspondence course, that are designed for each stage in a child's development. These programs encourage children to think for themselves, while stimulating their interest in a wide range of topics according to their age. Benesse also helps children to develop learning skills from infancy onwards through its intellectual development and English language programs. These are provided both online and at physical venues.

Elementary, junior high and senior high school students/schools

Designed to make optimal use of both digital and paper resources, Shinkenzemi correspondence courses motivate children to learn through content tailored to their growth stages and individual needs. Programs include detailed guidance provided online or face-to-face at our tutoring centers and learning centers, as well as community-based services. We encourage children to build their learning skills by providing support according to their objectives and level of understanding. We also help teachers to provide quality learning and career guidance through products and services designed to support the provision of education in changing school environments.

Reskilling solutions focused on organizational DX and career education

Our programs cover areas ranging from advanced information technology to business skills. In addition to learning programs for individuals, we also offer DX training for business corporations, government agencies, and local governments, while providing structures that enable participants to pursue career education in universities and other educational institutions and use their new knowledge to develop their careers.

進路達成プログラム

Learning support for senior high school students preparing for the expanded year-end university entrance exam system

There has been a rapid increase in the number of people sitting year-end university entrance exams. Benesse works with school teachers to provide students with career guidance and pre-matriculation study support through diagnostic and work programs provided through smartphones and other devices.

Sharing our knowledge to improve the quality of nursing care in Japan's super-aged society

Through its website, Benesse Style Care shares nursing care techniques and other knowledge with society. This information is available not just to nursing care professionals, but to everyone involved in the provision of care. The website also offers information about geriatric diseases, pharmaceuticals, and other topics.

Creating new and diverse learning styles with the focus on individual needs

みらいキャンパス

Fostering curiosity about the future through small-group online courses with the emphasis on dialogue

We work with professionals in various fields, including entrepreneurs and artists, to enhance curiosity-based learning programs for students at all levels and in all fields of study. These programs provide opportunities for participants to discover and extend their focus. They build the strengths needed for future growth through a process of exploration, starting with topics that interest them.

*Scope: Elementary and junior high school students

チャレンジスクール

Benesse online learning programs designed to stimulate interest and extend the abilities of each individual

Our extensive range of programs, including programming, art, and dance, are available from anywhere in Japan. Students can learn safely and with confidence from top-class instructors. Each program is designed to inspire students' enthusiasm and help them to build the strengths they need to succeed in a rapidly changing future in which there are no right answers. We are expanding the scope of our services to include not only services for home users, but also support for schoolchildren and children with school attendance problems.

*Scope: Infants through to senior high school students.
(The scope of participants varies according to the course)

The Benesse group aims to contribute to social sustainability through its business activities.

Benesse Art Site Naoshima

Benesse Holdings and the Fukutake Foundation are collaboratively contributing to community development through art at Benesse Art Site Naoshima on the shores of Seto Inland Sea. We work with local people to create new value and disseminate the philosophy of Benesse (well-being) to the world. Located at Benesse Art Site Naoshima, Benesse House harmoniously integrates architecture and art with nature. It symbolizes our determination to contribute to the realization of a sustainable society, and our commitment to sustainability on various levels, including the environment, health, and safety.
